

Become an Indigenous Energy Assessor

Published 28-Jan-21 by Sara Fralin

Are you an Indigenous tradesperson seeking to enter the green building sector? Do you want to support sustainable, healthy, quality homes?

Training Opportunity: Prepare for a rewarding career as an Indigenous Energy Assessor with the Aboriginal Housing Management Association in B.C.

AHMA is seeking candidates to participate in a new training program that will offer skills development in Building Condition Assessments, Energy Efficiency, and Audit Planner.

Training provided on:

- How to Conduct Building Audit – Best Practice
- How to Use the Audit Planner – Web-based Database System.

Desired Prerequisites:

1. Be Indigenous
2. A high-school diploma
3. Work Experience in the Building Trades or other forms of service related to social housing, and/or knowledge of building components.
4. A resident of B.C.

Contact Sara Fralin, Indigenous Energy Advisor (sfralin@ahma-bc.org) at AHMA to learn more about FREE training opportunities.

SARA FRALIN, Indigenous Energy Advisor, Asset Strategies
Aboriginal Housing Management Association
www.ahma-bc.org • sfralin@ahma-bc.org

T: 604-921-2462 • F: 604-921-2463 • Toll-Free: 1-888-921-2462
Suite 615 - 100 Park Royal South • West Vancouver, British Columbia • Canada • V7T 1A2

We are grateful at AHMA to work on the unceded, ancestral territories of the x̱məθkʷəjəm (Musqueam), Skwxwú7mesh (Squamish) and səliłwətaʔ (Tseil Waututh) Nations.

tags : building, construction, EnergyEfficiency, housing, training